Hotel Reservations

7 May 1947

FOIAb3b1 On January 20, 1947 I was ordered, along with two other employees of the [REDACTED] to New York City on official business for CIG. Reservations were made through the Transportation Section, CIG, for my party at the Hotel New Yorker.

On May 1, 1947 I was again ordered to New York on official business for CIG. Reservations were made through the Transportation Section, CIG, at the Hotel Henry Hudson.

On both occasions when I arrived at my hotel I was informed that there were no reservations for me, and that no such reservation had ever been made or even talked about. In both instances it was necessary, at considerable inconvenience, to seek other accommodations.

Unless these two instances are isolated cases and merely by coincidence happened to me, it is an indication that the method utilized by the Transportation Section, CIG, for making hotel reservations in New York City is seriously defective.
